MONDAY, DEC. 7, 1896.

It is said that the Imperial council of Russia may soon abolish the present system of exile in Siberia.

The full vote of the state of Nevada at the last election was 20,630, and yet that state has two Senators and one Congressman.

EXTENSIVE rains are again reported in famine stricken India. The spring crop prospects here greatly improved in the southern and central provinces.

SENATOR THURSTON, of Nebraska, says: "I have very recently seen Maj. McKinley, and I am convinced a session of the next congress will be held about March 15."

MISS EMMA MONROE, a lady of the mature age of fifteen years and editor of the Atlanta (Ga.) "Beacon," coincided a rival editor the other day on the public streets of her city; and yet some people think that the South is not strictly up to date.

QUEEN VICTORIA is possessed of a fortune of $175,000,000, the greater part of which has accrued from Her Majesty's savings from her annual allowance of $300,000. It is not at all unlikely that the allowance of the crown will be greatly reduced after the Queen's death.

It is a noticeable fact in those countries where the Populists and the silver Democrats are fusing for the purpose of distributing the offices that the Populists are getting no small share of the offices. The swallowing of free coinage Democracy by Populism is progressing slowly but very surely.

The Republicans of Davies and Hopkins counties in meetings assembled have adopted resolutions for an extra session of the Legislature. Governor Bradley, however, will doubtless call an extra session of Kentucky's legislative menagerie whenever he gets good and ready. Meanwhile assembling together and adopting resolutions is a harmless amusement and strictly among the constitutional rights of American citizens.

A London dispatch says: There is much interest around a letter in the London "Times," signed "Old-fashioned Patriot," explaining the patriotic instructions given to American youth. He tells how, not only the boys, but the girls in the United States are drilled in giving a military salute in the schools to the Stars and Stripes, and suggests that the same system be introduced in the British schools. This letter has been reproduced everywhere, and the "Globe" warmly supports the idea, adding: "The Union Jack stands for more than the Star Spangled Banner, recalling a long and glorious past."

The sound money Democracy in Kentucky is manifesting a determination to live and to maintain its organization that bodes no good to the so-called "illegitimate" party that is being "managed" by a lot of political scoundrels and kid statesmen. The only principle underlying the foundation of sound money Democracy is a vital one and upon its preservation rests the honor of the national government. The organizers and founders of the new party include among their numbers the brains and the patriotism of the old Democratic party. The new party is destined for a great work and it will live. The communications pronounced against them by silver leaders and executive committees by the "illegitimate" party are of no account. The point of the party is scheduled three are now with the nation in the civil service reform. The movement is backed by a powerful reform party which is organized as a secret society. The object of the revolution is said to be the opening up of the Flowery Kingdom and the breaking down of the national exclusiveness which has thus far kept the major part of that vast country as secluded from the eyes of the world as are the most tangled jungles of Central Africa. The existence of the reform party, if as strong as it is rumored to be, is an indubitable evidence that China is undergoing a change of thought which may yet cause the shamed-eyed descendants of the sun to realize that civilization is progressive and that they are two thousand years behind the times. A new China is among the possibilities of the next few decades.

The contemplated plan of the members of the Republican electoral ticket of Tennessee to hold a meeting and formally petition congress to investigate the frauds in the recent election in that state is a most excellent one. In no state in the Union is fraud more open or more flagrantly practiced than in the state of Tennessee. The holding of an election in that state is a veritable farce. Two years ago the Democratic managers made a slight miscalculation and were compelled to steal the election after the face of the returns was against them. There is great reason to believe that Tennessee would be Republican on a fair election and a fair count. But a fair election and a fair count are strangers to politics in the old Volunteer State. An election there is simply an expensive method of ratifying the nominees of Democratic primaries. Republicans run for office in that state merely for exercise and notoriety.

TARIFF LEGISLATION.
It is now generally accepted that President McKinley will call an extra session of Congress very soon after his inauguration, and that the call will be made to pass needed tariff legislation. President Cleveland was elected on the issue of tariff reform and yet he called no extra session, although the people had declared for a revision of the tariff laws. Cleveland's apparent indifference disgusted his party and caused many to believe that the issue had been raised merely to catch votes. President McKinley should not and probably will not make any such mistake.

There is no question but that the tariff question was a most effective issue in the great manufacturing states in the last election. McKinley's aphorism to "open the mills and not the mints" appealed powerfully to the laboring people in all manufacturing communities. It was from such states that the unprecedented popular majority came. The manufacturers of the country want a high protective tariff. The laboring people want a tariff that will enable the mills to run full time and to pay full wages.

The sentiment is also growing among those men who have hitherto been in favor of tariff reform, that a tariff "for revenue only" should be laid on articles that compete with American labor.

Bourke Cochran, the brilliant orator, now says that he does not propose ever again to be a tariff reformer; and Chairman Byrum, of the sound money Democratic organization, says: "I would not raise any revenue from tea, coffee and sugar, but from articles that compete with American labor."

Such statements as these show that a wonderful change is going on in the minds of the close students of national affairs.

A large portion of the people also believe that, were the tariff question rightly settled, the currency question would settle itself.

"The best thing the present congress can do with the currency is to let it alone," says President Thompson, of the St. Louis National Bank of Commerce. "If they can provide sufficient revenue to pay the expenses of the Government," the currency will take care of itself."

This opinion is most generally shared in by business men throughout the country.

No well versed person believes that the Republicans will pass an extreme measure. The policy of even the Republican party has been towards tariff reform. A Republican tariff law, will be thoroughly consistent. It will be a tariff for protection that will extend its protection in such a way as to benefit the most people; and it will raise revenue enough to banish national deficits and to dispel any lingering doubt as to the government's ability to protect its outstanding obligations.

please everybody, has kindly loaned McKinley's labors in that direction to a most amazing degree. The reformer's jobs have been safely guarded in for their present incumbents. Now comes the reform news that the foreign embassies have also been secretly nabbed down. It seems that only 55 consuls are not under civil service regulations. This may be mighty funny for the boys who are learning to jabber a foreign lingo at the expense of Uncle Sam but it is right tough on the pockets who devoted their valuable time to the task of whipping the free silver hordes. We fear that Your Uncle Grover has made a most egregious blunder. In other words he has been decidedly too previous. We believe in civil service; in fact we are enthusiastically for it, when provided by a Republican president. We have a friendly feeling for a so called money Democrat, but the idea of a long haired free silverite babbling to the shame of government patronage is more than a Republican human nature can stand.

A TRIBUTE TO THE PRESIDENT.

A civil service reformer pays the following tribute to President Cleveland: "In a few brief weeks one of the greatest patriots America has ever produced will, for the second time, retire from the office of President of the United States, and when he departs from Washington will carry with him the love, the respect, the esteem of millions upon millions of his countrymen. The followers of Bryan will not mourn his retirement, for Grover Cleveland made them unspeakably unhappy, and did much to save the nation from the disgrace of that man's election. In all of the centuries to come, wherein the United States will have a place in history, the name of the illustrious citizen who is now our chief magistrate will shine in resplendent glory along with those of Washington, Lincoln and Grant. No president ever gave to his public duties more zealous thought or more patriotic impulse, and no man in all the land has done more than he to place the business of office holding upon a higher plane than it ever before occupied. He is the apostle of civil service reform."

GEORGIA WILL BE THE BATTLEFIELD.

In case of another free coinage campaign the war into Georgia. The state in 1892 gave the Democrats and Populists combined 172,925 votes and the Republicans 48,305. At the recent election the vote was Bryan 94,532, McKinley 60,190. The Republican gain was 11,885 and the fusion loss 77,993. The Bryan vote in Georgia is 35,054 less than the vote for Cleveland alone in 1892, to say nothing of the 42,930 for Weaver. Free silver has been a Democratic blight in the Empire State of the South.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL TIPS.

Vice President Harahan Passes Through.

A Few Items of Interest About the Railroad.

Second Vice President J. T. Harahan, of the Illinois Central, arrived yesterday morning from Louisville accompanied by his son, Supt. W. J. Harahan, of this division. The latter got off at Paducah, but the former proceeded to Memphis on his private car.

The connections with the Brooklyn cable have all been made on the other side of the river, but those here will require considerable more time. There has for some time past been a rumor to the effect that the dispatchers' office at Broadway would be moved to the Union depot, and the cable wire run there. Supt. Harahan stated to a box reporter this morning that there is nothing in the rumor, and that the cable wire will be stretched to the Broadway office instead of the Broadway office being moved to meet the cable wire.

Illinois Central stock to employees of the Illinois Central for December is quoted at $95 per share.

Supt. W. J. Harahan returned to Louisville this morning.

Baggage-master Will Flowers is slightly under the weather. Yesterday he was unable to attend to his duties.

GROWS THICKER.

It Looks Like Jim Harris, of Siles, Needed Shooting.

He Was Arrested on a Charge of Being a Suspected Felon, Wanted in Tennessee.

There are new developments in the Harris shooting scrape that occurred at Siles Wednesday night. Jim Harris was shot in the wrist by Tol Harris, his uncle. Judge Sanders issued a warrant against the latter, and Saturday night his wife, Lulu Harris, came to the city after Sarah Upshaw, her daughter. She claims that Jim Harris was attempting to abduct her daughter for the purpose of marrying or marrying her when he was shot. Harris, she claimed, is wanted at Elton, Gibson county, Tenn., for shooting a man last January.

When Harris was locked up he was not searched, and when breakfast was served in the lockup yesterday morning he attempted to escape, and afterwards took out a knife, apparently to whittle. Lockup Keeper Keller took it away from him, and afterwards three or four other knives were found in his pockets.

THIS'N WAS LOADED.

North Morris Gets Shot In Both Legs.

The Pistol was Loaded, and Both Young Men Knew It.

Yesterday morning Will Lindsay and North Morris, two young men of Calvert City, were tampering with an old rusty pistol. Lindsay was working with the weapon when it inadvertently went off, and the bullet passed through one of young Morris' legs and lodged in the other side of the other limb.

The young man was not seriously hurt, but will be disabled for some time. Young Lindsay regrets the accident, due to his carelessness, very much.

The case against the two men for gaming was continued by Judge Sanders this morning at the instance of Prosecuting Attorney Reeves.

A Coal Contract.

The largest coal contract ever closed for this district, the second largest made in the United States this year and the largest made between mine and dealer was landed very lately by President Swab, and Traveling Agent Manning, of the Middlesboro Coal Co., who closed with an Atlanta concern for thirty thousand tons of the now famous "Middlesboro" coal, says the Middlesboro "News."

This is a distinct strike for this district which will soon, if indeed it does not already, stand at the head of the heap for good all round coal.

Lockup Keeper Keller sometimes takes knives on his prisoners, but seldom any money. If a prisoner has money, he generally has to part with it before he enters the several cells of the subterranean passage, especially beneath the city clock, especially if the vigilant night men get wind of it.

One night the lockup keeper sent him to bring the prisoners out to supper. One colored man honestly took a bulky pocketbook to tantalize the lockup keeper, but the latter firmly replied: "Though you can't use the night police put you in here. There isn't enough money in that pocket as much of your's as to buy a ticket at a Natchez Ark. succeed sale. Get the money on it." Sure enough, it wasn't. It was all upstairs.

The man, according to one of the clerks, had four knives in his pockets, which were taken from him at the jail. They always get the cash.

"When I was running a saw mill down in Arkansas," narrated Mr. Benjamin Byng at the Palmer the other night, "the wild cats were so thick that I had to get up in the night and throw furniture out the window at them. I'll tell you what I did one morning, and it's is no everyday day. I started in the mill and a catamont in the road. He wouldn't get out of any way any more than a common, every day done like before, so I just picked up a big log, and hit it by one ear and beat him down the bank."

Two of his friends in this juncture assisted feebly to themselves and begged to be excused. The others remained and nothing daunted, the speaker continued: "One night a ladder of mine set a trap for a 'coon. At the next morning found a cat in the cage caught in it instead. It limped only four claws, and desiring to serve the pelt, my friend procured a new club and went forth to battle with the cat. It showed flight and did circle all about the trap with a general foot shuffling, and the captor would waste him with the club or line he came round. It took him six hours to exterminate the nine lives of the cat."

A prominent physician of Louisville, in an interview with a reporter of the Louisville "Post," says he is acquainted with Dr. Henshelm, a doctor who has been refused a license to practice medicine in Kentucky, but has been watching the case with a great deal of interest, and though the state board of health is most efficient, in this case, he frequently looks southern matrons secure in their position and professing her hospitality, which she extended to us in a manner that a dutchess might have envied. After a delicious lunch had been served by a well-trained old colored butler, the hostess was tapped and we arose to depart. We expressed our gratitude and thanked her in the best manner we could and bade the grand old lady adieu, she bade us farewell. On the way back to Greenwood the writer said in all the time working in the flowers into an emblem for Kith and Kin to present to his lady fair upon arrival. After debating what the design should be we decided on a "Pillbox" which was there was an abundance of flowers the writer shaped it of willow branches some six feet in diameter. The spokes were "Cupid's darts" and from each a heart or some other symbol of tender passion dangled. Of course it required some time to make such a thing, but it was worth the effort. It was in the evening before it was completed, and we were ready to transport it in the home of the square omitted. According to the president, he says, the great Koch, Vereloff, the famous doctor and statesman, or Von Bergeman, the most noted physician in the world, could not find it unble to practice in Paducah or any other part of Kentucky without syndrining at least two years. He said, Kentucky is debarred from the acquisition of any great specialist who might be tempted to live here.

With no desire to defend the board of health, I turned to side either way, the Louisville doctor mentioned above seemed to state but one side of the case. He might have added that it was America's famous physicians, that it was some of the most famous physicians in the world, from Washington to Gen. Grant, the land of the great Koch, Vereloff or Von Bergeman, that they cannot practice there, and that the board might for greater obligation become free they could procure right to practice than a German physician could to surmount in America. Our is no worse than theirs.

The Golden Leaf Club of the Washington Street Baptist church held last Friday evening at Mrs. Henry Reel's, 412 South Seventh street, where they were royally entertained by Mrs. Reel. They will meet next Friday with Mrs. B. F. Jones on Seventh street. The friends are invited to be present. Those who fail to attend will miss a treat as they are arranging to have a musical concert composed of some of the best talent in the city. This club is doing a wonderful work toward paying off the debts of the church and should be well patronized. Mrs. Jones knows how to entertain and you will certainly be well entertained. The concert will not be in until late so as to give those a chance to attend church if they want to come. Dr. Dupee, who is raring on a series of meetings at the church, has renewed the services of Bishop Washington of Illinois, who preaches very able and forcible sermons. The club will be here all the week. Let everybody come out and hear him.

FORGOT THE PAST.

The Mysterious Injury of John Harris.

Returned Home Covered With Blood.—Could Explain Nothing.

John Harris, a prominent farmer of near Maxon's Mills, was mysteriously injured yesterday afternoon in an inexplicable manner, and may die.

He had but a mile and a half to go but never reached his destination. In about thirty minutes he returned, leading his horse and covered with blood. He was conscious, but perfectly irrational, and could not tell how he became so terribly injured. His head was smashed and his face lacerated, and he soon lapsed into unconsciousness, but at intervals would have lucid moments. Yet the past is a complete blank to him. He does not recognize his friends or past occurrences. As yet nothing has been discovered tending to reveal the manner in which he was injured, and the doctors are greatly puzzled over his case. He may have been thrown by his horse.

BOOZY BURGLARS.

They Resort to Robbing Saloons Now.

Two Entered and Burglarized Some Time Last Night.

The burglars who were abroad last night must have been "dry." Two bold burglaries were committed during the night, and in each instance saloons were entered.

The marauders went to Cal Waggoner's saloon, the "Tyrone," on South Second, near Broadway, and cut a glass out of a rear window. The cash drawer was rifled of its contents, about $20, and several quarts of whiskey and some cigars were taken.

The saloon of A. Rosenthal on South Second, just above Court, was also entered, a panel being cut from the back door. A small amount of money was taken from the cash drawer, and a quantity of whiskey and cigars stolen here also. The police have no clue.

FINED THE JUSTICE.

Remarkable Verdict of a Jury This Morning.

An instance of a jury fining the justice who presided over the case which they tried, occurred in the city this morning.

Six men, tried and true, were summoned by Justice Winchester to try a case against Attorney Jesse H. Moss, for failing to work the roads.

After the evidence was heard the jury was locked up and Justice Winchester sauntered down legal road with the key in his pocket, sunning his glimmering pate as he strolled, for he wore no hat.

About noon he thought it was rather strange that the jury had not agreed, and went back and unlocked the door.

He was handed a verdict reading: "We, the jury, find Justice Winchester $3 for keeping us locked up," etc. It was duly signed by all the jury, and although the jolly justice considers it a joke the jury says it is not. In the Moss case it was "hung," three and three.

SLICK CITIZENS.

Sanders late that night swore out a warrant against them.

A number of cans of "Progress" baking powder were discovered on the boat, but the prisoners claimed to know nothing at all of the orders taken by Higley's agents, and said they had been selling their baking powder all along the river.

The warrant was read to them three different times, but yesterday they employed Judge Campbell to defend them, and stated to him that they did not know what the warrant contained.

Last night Officers Crow and Bond were sent to the Heineberger home to subpoena Higley as a witness, but were told that he had left the city on the 2:45 train. The dishes he promised the church were promptly delivered, and although he contended that he was not "in cahoots" with the four men under arrest, the general belief is that he was. In justice to him, however, his agents all claim that Higley himself did not know from whom they took orders, as they kept their own book. They received no compensation for their work and yesterday had a large number of witnesses summoned to testify against the accused.

The defendants when called upon to plead this morning asked for a continuance until tomorrow, which was granted. Several of the women who brought baking powder were in court and identified the young men. They seem to be in a bad mess and in pursuance of orders from their attorney were reticent on the subject today.

GIVEN TO THE GRAND JURY.

Nick Mullen Remanded to Jail This Morning.

Nick Mullen was presented in the police court today on the charge of false swearing. He is charged with falsely swearing in a malicious shooting case in which he shot at Rice Miller, colored.

The case has been called before Judge Sanders several times, but the defendant was never ready. This morning Judge Sanders turned it over to the grand jury and the witnesses were recognized to appear before that body Wednesday.

DEATH OF CHAS. RIGGINS.

His Death Was Sudden and Unexpected.

Mr. Chas. Riggins, a well known citizen, died at noon today of rheumatism and neuralgia of the heart after a brief illness. He had been ill but a short time, having been ill but a short time, having been out of day. Death was very unexpected.

The deceased was about 46 years of age, and had been a resident of Paducah for twenty years. He was formerly a circus man, and had a wide circle of friends and acquaintances.

He leaves two sisters and a brother at Mt. Carmel, Ill., who were this afternoon notified of his death. No arrangements have yet been made for the funeral.

ANOTHER SCRAP.

Sons of the Denizens of Island Creek on the War Path.

The mouth of Island creek was the scene of another disgraceful fight this morning. It alarmed the entire neighborhood and as a result George Campbell was badly beaten up by Maggie Roush and Mrs. Sue Eggston and her husband.

It was simply an outbreak of the old trouble between the respective families.

Warrants were issued and the case will probably be tried today. Campbell was badly used up.
